

A Reflection for the Half Term Holiday presented by Ezekiel in Y6

I would like to spend my half term trying new experiences like going to see the zoo or even rock climbing. I want to take risks and explore things I thought I was incapable of doing. I want to find another side of me and no longer be a creature of habit.

I actually want to go outside, enjoy nature, be organic and natural.

I want to live in a land full of vegetation like rainforests.

I want to find something different and make myself unique from others and let my light burn brighter than any other.

I want to stand out and make a difference to the world and say: 'This is who I really am and I am not afraid that I am awkward, weird or too ambitious'.

I am going to use this half term to realise my personality and make some breakthroughs in the reality world.

I want to show people not to lock yourself away but to show your true colours.
